DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 5, paragraph 0025, line 1, the phrase "the plates 12 through 20" should read "12, 14, 16, 18, and 20" because reference numerals 13, 15, 17, and 19 are included the phrase 12-20..

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-8, 10-12, 14, 16, and 18-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ellis, U. S. Patent 3,734,809.

3. A display device comprising a sheet folded along creases 7 to define a plurality of plates, wherein the first plate having a forward surface and a rearward surface and the second plate disposed rearwardly of and adjacent to the first plate. The second plate having a forward surface and a rearward surface and third plate disposed rearwardly of and adjacent to the second plate, wherein the third plate having a forward surface and a rearward surface. (See figures 2 and 4).

Ellis also teaches biasing means in the form of a rubber band 14 for permitting relative movement of adjacent plates between a retracted position and an expanded position when the first plate is pulled generally in a forward direction and for biasing the plates toward the retracted position for returning the plates to the retracted position when the first plate is released. (See column 2 and lines 1-8). The plates in the retracted position being generally in registration with one another such that the rearward surface of the first plate faces the forward surface of the second plate, and the rearward surface of the second plate faces the forward surface of the third plate whereby generally only the forward surface of the first plate is exposed for viewing information to be displayed thereon from a position generally forward of the display device, and the plates in the expanded position oriented such that the forward surface of the first plate, the rearward surface of the second plate and the forward surface of the third plate are exposed for viewing information to be displayed thereon from a position generally forward of the display device.

With respect to claim 2, 12, and 22, Ellis teaches that the first, second and third plates each have a first edge and a second edge generally at an opposite end relative to the first edge, the first edge of the first plate is secured to a hang grip 9 to pull the plates from the retracted position, seen in phantom lines in figure 2, to the expanded position, seen in solid lines in figure 2. the second edges of the first plate and the second plate being hingedly coupled to each other at 7, and the first edges of the second plate and the third plate being hingedly coupled to each other at 7 to further facilitate movement of the plates between the retracted position and the expanded position.

With respect to claim 3, 14 Ellis teaches the rubber band 14 is coupled to the plates.

With respect to claim 4, 6, Ellis teaches a first rubber band 14 coupled to the first, second, third, and fourth plate and a second rubber band is coupled to the first thru fourth plates. The examiner considers the first rubber band to correspond to upper rubber band seen in figure 1 and a second rubber band to correspond to the lower rubber band seen in figure 1, wherein the first band is.

With respect to claim 5, 7, 16, 18, Ellis teaches a single rubber band coupling to the first plate to the second plate, and coupling the second plate to the third plate.

With respect to claims 8, 10, 19, 21, Ellis teaches wherein the third plate is a rearmost plate relative to the first plate, and further including hole 21 for attaching the third plate to a support surface.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 9, 13, 15, and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
